The image features a dark gray background with several diagonal lines. A white line starts from the left edge and extends towards the top right. A second white line is parallel to the first, starting further to the right and also extending towards the top right. A gray line starts from the bottom left and extends towards the top right. A red line starts from the bottom left and extends towards the top right, positioned below the gray line. The text 'Substrate' is written in a bold, orange, sans-serif font, positioned between the two white lines.
